

EXHIBIT 16

Sections ▾

Login

ing Gear Entertainment Tomorrow Deals Buying Guides Video Podcasts

Blizzard rolls out Battle.net voice chat starting with 'Overwatch'

J. Conditt | 10.23.15
@JessConditt

J. Conditt
@JessConditt

October 23, 2015
2:45 PM

In this article: Activision,
activisionblizzard,
battle.net, battlenet,
Blizzard, hdpstcross,
overwatch, voice,
VoiceChat

Blizzard has been in the online gaming business for decades with massively popular games like StarCraft and World of Warcraft, but it's never implemented a native voice-chat system in its Battle.net client. Now, it appears that's about to change. Blizzard is testing out voice chat in the beta for its new team-based shooter, Overwatch, and it sounds like

Sponsored Links

Tulsa King Now Streaming
Paramount+

Sections ▾

Login

its games. In the Overwatch beta FAQ, Blizzard calls the system "Battle.net voice chat," rather than something Overwatch-specific. Plus, it notes, "With voice chat still in its early development and testing stages, it's too early to say which Blizzard games will be supported and when." Prepare your vocal cords, players: The Overwatch closed beta begins on October 27th.

$107 million in scholarships and programming
Wells Fargo

All products recommended by Engadget are selected by our editorial team, independent of our parent company. Some of our stories include affiliate links. If you buy something through one of these links, we may earn an affiliate commission. All prices are correct at the time of publishing.

View All Comments

Sections ▾

Login

World of Warcraft will go online in China next year

Its license agreement with NetEase in the nation will expire on January 23, 2023.

S. Dent | 11.17.22
@stevetdent

S. Dent

@stevetdent

November 17, 2022

3:49 AM

In this article: NetEase, China, news, gaming, World of Warcraft, Activision, Blizzard, Hearthstone, Overwatch 2

Blizzard

Blizzard Entertainment will be suspending key games like Overwatch 2 and World of Warcraft in China because it failed to reach an agreement with partner NetEase, it announced. Those titles along with Hearthstone, Starcraft, Heroes of the Storm, Diablo III and Warcraft III: Reforged will be unavailable in China starting on January 23, 2023. Diablo Immortal, which arrived earlier this year, won't be affected as it's covered by a separate agreement, according to NetEase.

"The two parties have not reached a deal to renew the agreements that is consistent with Blizzard's operating principles and commitments to players

How did 6sense see 537% ROI from B2B gifting?

Learn how

alyce

Sections ▾

Login

Blizzard said in the press release. "We will suspend new sales in the coming days and Chinese players will be receiving details of how this will work soon. Upcoming releases for World of Warcraft: Dragonflight, Hearthstone: March of the Lich King, and season 2 of Overwatch 2 will proceed later this year."

NetEase is China's second largest gaming company and has partnered with Blizzard since 2008. It's a key player for Blizzard in the nation, helping guarantee that its games meet China's strict content requirements. The deal wasn't just about money, but also who owned the the intellectual property and player data, according to Bloomberg.

Turn on browser notifications to receive breaking news alerts from Engadget

You can disable notifications at any time in your settings menu.

Not nowTurn on

Sections

Login

when what has happened behind the scene could be told, developers and gamers will have a whole new level understanding of how much damage a jerk can make," said NetEase's president of global investment and partnership, Simon Zhu, in a LinkedIn post spotted by TechCrunch. Blizzard, meanwhile, said "we are looking for alternatives to bring our games back to players in the future."

All products recommended by Engadget are selected by our editorial team, independent of our parent company. Some of our stories include affiliate links. If you buy something through one of these links, we may earn an affiliate commission. All prices are correct at the time of publishing.

View All Comments

About

Engadget Masthead

About our Ads

Advertise

FAQ

RSS Feed

Sections

Reviews

Gear

Gaming

Entertainment

Tomorrow

Contribute

Comment Guidelines

Support

International

繁體中文

Sections ▾

Login

🔍

Deals

Subscribe to our two newsletters:

Engadget

Deals - A weekly roundup of our favorite tech deals

The Morning After - A daily dose of the news you need

Subscribe

Follow Us

f

🐦

▶

📷

in © 2022 Yahoo. All rights reserved.

- About Us

Reprints and Permissions

Suggestions

Privacy Policy (Updated)

Terms of Service (Updated)

Trademarks
- Advertise

About Our Ads